We have been looking at creation stories from Christianity, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism and Sikhism over the last two weeks.

We asked ourselves:

If our religious beliefs are similar, what does that tell you about us?

It's silly that we have wars about religion, because they are mostly similar. They believe in at least one god. Connor.	It shows we are all the same inside. Skye	If our religious beliefs are similar that tells us that we're similar too. Sure we may look different but we all have something in common. Charlotte	If the religions are similar it's a good thing as you are basically all one religion but believe in a different god and story and it also tells me that there could be a fight as they all nearly believe the same and who's religion is better it also tells me that there also at the same time there would be a fight. By Millie, C.	I + means that people believe in the same but do it differently.	I think it tells me that it doesn't matter what belief you believe in. It's important that you know what you believe in.
It does not matter what you believe we are all human. Felix	It makes us look bad because we are fighting over the same thing. It looked a man to have a fight but a country to have a war. Olivia	If our religions were all the same we would be boring and there would be no culture or festivals or story from other religions like we have those days. Alfie	I think this helps to understand and that there is not a big difference in every religious beliefs that actually we all live the same life in most ways. And that is does not matter what religion your from because we are all the same. Fatima	It's the small differences that make everyone the same. Maybe one person has, green eyes, a crooked nose, pierced ears, it doesn't matter. Everyone is entitled to their own belief, not someone else's. People shouldn't have to make decisions worrying about what someone else is going to think. We are our own people with our own minds. Maddy	It's the small differences that make people the same it's the big differences that make us who we are. Everyone is similar even if we have different hair or eye colour. Sibel
It shows us that we might be different but we all have something in common. Oscar	We are the same so we have to treat all the religions the same. Oscar	It shows that we may be different in some ways but we still think the same. Oscar	That we don't actually respect each other for who we are and what we believe in. It's not our religions that make us fight it's just ourselves. Also that we don't actually think ourselves equal. Fatima	I think that it tells us that we believe in the same things but in a different order and god. Aimee	We should not have a war about our religion because they are practically the same, so what is the point on having a war about it. Sibel
It tells us that we all are equal in a way and it tells us that we have the same belief. If we have a different belief it's fine because everyone has a belief that should be kept a secret! Maddy	Even though everyone's religion is similar and different. Everyone has the right to respect everyone because we are all the same, but we just have different religions. Maddy	Are religious beliefs are similar and that tells us that everyone is very similar but we are all different in our own ways. William	It tells you that most of us who are religious are near the same but you can still choose your own religion to believe in. Charlie	It shows that beliefs doesn't change who you are and that sometimes it helps.
I think it tells us that even though everyone is different, we are also the same in many ways, such as believing in similar religions. Emily, P	I think that we should all be treated the same and also there is know point of fighting because we are all human beings. Emily, P	I think that it tells me that all humans stemmed from the same place. Apes. That means however different one thing is to another there will always be a secret similarity. Thomas
I think our religious beliefs are similar because every god from every religion made the light for example god from Christianity said let there be light. Maddy	I think that we are all the same and we can do the same things but we just believe in different things. Maddy	It tells us that we are all the same and normal because if everybody believed in the same thing it would not be normal. Also maybe some people believe in part of it and other parts but not all of it. Kingsley
