

I challenge you to a musical duel, Apollo!

sneered Pan.

I accept your challenge, Pan.

laughed Apollo.

My flute will easily beat your silly harp!

Pan taunted unkindly.

Pah! I don't think so!

exclaimed Apollo confidently.

Pan declared

We need a judge to make it fair.

Apollo wondered

Yes, but who can we ask?

Example: “I challenge you to a musical duel, Apollo!” sneered Pan.

Direct Speech

- Hug the words spoken with speech marks
- Start the speakers' words with a capital letter
- Separate the speech and reporting clause with a comma
- Start a new line to show the speaker has changed

Direct Speech

- Hug the words spoken with speech marks
- Start the speakers' words with a capital letter
- Separate the speech and reporting clause with a comma
- Start a new line to show the speaker has changed

“I challenge you to a musical duel, Apollo!” sneered Pan.

“I accept your challenge, Pan,” laughed Apollo.

“My flute will easily beat your silly harp!” Pan taunted unkindly.

“Pah! I don’t think so!” exclaimed Apollo confidently.

Pan declared, “We need a judge to make it fair.”

Apollo wondered, “Yes, but who can we ask?”